

REVISION®

GRYPHON TACTICAL SHEMAKH

USER INSTRUCTIONS

GENERAL DESCRIPTION

The Gryphon Tactical Shemagh comes with two GrypMag™ Carriers that magnetically attach to the frame of Revision's MerlinHawk™ Goggle or SnowHawk® Goggle. There are two GrypMag™ locations within the shemagh, which allows for multiple wrapping styles.

GRYPMAG™ TECHNOLOGY

Built-in magnetic attachment points in the frame and headwear give the user the ability to seamlessly connect the goggle and headwear, creating a complete facial seal.

INSTRUCTIONS

FOLDING METHOD 1: Protection for the lower half of the face.

Step 1: With shemagh completely open, insert the carrier in the middle location of the shemagh. (See the Gryphon Headwear Accessories Instructions on how to insert the carrier.)

Step 2: Fold shemagh into a triangle by matching one corner with the corner diagonally opposite from it, folding the square in half and into a triangle. Make sure the carrier location is on the fold line.

Step 3: Place the carrier on the bridge of your nose and drape the 2 corners of the shemagh over your shoulders, leaving the other corner to drape down in front of your face, neck and chest.

Step 4: Holding the ends up, keeping the material taut against your face, tie a single knot at the back of your neck.

Step 5: Bring the ends of the tied shemagh back over your shoulders so that they drape down over your chest.

Step 6: Adjust the shemagh as needed

FOLDING METHOD 2: Protection for the head and face, and from breathing in sand or debris-filled air.

Step 1: With shemagh completely open, insert the carrier in the location near the edge of the shemagh. (See the Gryphon Headwear Accessories Instructions on how to insert the carrier.)

Step 2: Fold shemagh into a triangle by matching one corner with the corner diagonally opposite from it, folding the square in half and into a triangle. Make sure the carrier location is on the fold line.

Step 3: Drape shemagh over head and position the folded edge of the shemagh over forehead, somewhere between hairline and eyebrows keeping the carrier on the right side.

Step 4: Pull the left side around to the right so that it wraps completely under your chin. Pull the end over your shoulder and toward the back of your head in order to keep it tight under your chin.

Step 5: Grab the folded edge of the right side with your left hand and pull it all the way across your face, toward your left side. The carrier should fit over the bridge of your nose so that the shemagh drapes across your nose and mouth.

Step 6: Tie the two ends at the back of your head using a tight overhand or double knot to secure the shemagh in place. Roughly around the back center, and it must be tight enough to keep the shemagh on your face making sure that the material is taut against all parts of your neck, face, and head.

Step 7: Adjust the shemagh as needed so that the material covers the top of your head and lower half of your face without covering your eyes.

FOLDING METHOD 3: Protection for the head and face, and from breathing in sand or debris-filled air.

Step 1: With shemagh completely open, insert the carrier in the location near the edge of the shemagh. (See the Gryphon Headwear Accessories Instructions on how to insert the carrier.)

Step 2: Fold shemagh into a triangle by matching one corner with the corner diagonally opposite from it, folding the square in half and into a triangle. Make sure the carrier location is on the fold line.

Step 3: Drape shemagh over head and position the folded edge of the shemagh over forehead, somewhere between hairline and eyebrows keeping the carrier on the right side.

Step 4: Pull the left side around to the right so that it wraps completely under your chin. Pull the end over your shoulder and toward the back of your head in order to keep it tight under your chin.

Step 5: Grab the folded edge of the right side with your left hand and pull it all the way across your face, toward your left side. The carrier should fit over the bridge of your nose so that the shemagh drapes across your nose and mouth.

Step 6: Bring the two ends of the shemagh together at the top of your head and tie the ends together using two overhand knots to secure the shemagh in place.

Step 7: Adjust the shemagh as needed so that the material covers the top of your head and lower half of your face without covering your eyes.
