

GRYPHON ECOSYSTEM

Eyewear Systems Tailored to Your Environment and Mission

If your clothing can adapt to your environment, so should your eyewear. Your eyewear is one part of a whole system working hard to protect the head, but we believe it should be doing more. When you shove a balaclava or a gaiter under your goggles to keep it up, what happens? The seal between your goggles and your face is broken, which allows dust or other irritants to get to your eyes. It is also pushing your breath up fogging your lenses. Not very helpful when seeing is paramount to your situational awareness. The solution – THE GRYPHON ECOSYSTEM which provides seamless integration between your eyepro and face covering. This system includes two goggle designs, the MerlinHawk™ and the SnowHawk®, and various headwear accessories, including balaclavas and gaiters.

With GrypMag™ technology, we have integrated Anon®'s MFI (Magnetic Face Integration) solution originally developed for the ski and snowboard market. Built-in magnetic attachment points in the frame and headwear give you the ability to seamlessly connect your goggle and headwear, creating a complete facial seal. Revision's Gryphon Ecosystem of Headwear Accessories and Goggle Systems provide ultimate protection in a variety of environments.
